DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 59-70 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 1, line 5, how is the platen attached to the polishing side? Isn't the platen on the opposite side of the polishing side? Claims 62, 66, 67, 70 contradict each other. Claim 62 provides an area for a void. Claims 66, 67, and 70 claim a layer of the transparent material filling the void. Therefore there is no void. This is unclear. Claim 67, what is the 'supporting layer' supporting?

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 59-61 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Hasegawa-6,855,034.

Art Unit: 3723

Hasegawa discloses a polishing table with a platen (2) a pad (1) wherein the pad (polybutadiene-Abstract) is thinned or recessed (11) to a thickness in the range of 1-2mm (col. 9, lines 5-10) such that a substrate is monitored while being processed.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 62-70 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hasegawa in view of Boyd et al.—6,953,515.

Hasegawa does not disclose using a transparent plug within platen. However, Boyd teaches monitoring a substrate through a hole in a platen (128) by transmitting laser at substrate, wherein the platen has a transparent window plug (132) that is flush with platen or has a raised upper layer (156) filling a void in a polishing pad (120). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at time invention was made to provide Hasegawa with a window plug, as taught by Boyd in order to support the thinned region with a light transmitting material such that the thinned material would have extended life and the monitoring system would be protected from slurry if thinned portion was to tear. The amount of protruding or recessing of the window plug and shape would be an obvious design expedient to one of ordinary skill in the art (col. 6, line 56).

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 4-27-06 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. There are still a couple 112, 2nd paragraph problems with the new claims. Applicant did not address Hasegawa or refers to Birang by mistake on page 7 of the remarks. In either case, Hasegawa does disclose a pad having varying thickness (11).

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
